About the Programme

About Zero Shadow Day

Zero Shadow is a phenomenon when the sun is exactly overhead and the shadows of symmetrical and vertical objects vanish. This happens for locations between the tropics and is caused by the northern and southern motion of the sun during the course of a year. This app helps you find the Zero Shadow Day for any location.

If you are between Tropic of Cancer and Tropic of Capricorn, then on a particular day (one during Uttarayan and other during Dakshinayan) the Sun will pass directly overhead at local noon. At local noon on this day, a vertical pole will cast no shadow. These are called Zero Shadow Days, or ZSD. This app is an aid to the campaign by the Public Outreach and Education Committee of the Astronomical Society of India for celebrating ZSD.

Feedback

Zero Shadow Day.

Sachin Hudale Sir. The information on which you have been told, was quiet useful. The language was so simple and easy to understand. Overall the presentation was really effective and good. Let's hope ,shall get to listen such information in future.

Thank you very much.

Mr. Dattatray Ramchandra Shinde.
